SOFT SKILLS:

Communication:
Communication is the pillar of any teamwork, listening to others, answering in time, being clear and concise is not simply important yet essential.

Self learner:
Being a self-learner is mandatory for a programmer and I proved myself by learning programming and web development. Besides I like to learn new things, it's highly rewarding.

Problem solver:
I like to scratch my head to find solutions to new problems, that's partly why I like programming

Proactive:
Thinking about caveats and possibles problems before they occur is necessary for this line of work since a single issue could hinder a whole project.
